Respected sir,

I am Dr. Chandrashekhar Devidas Patil (PhD in Microbiology), currently working as a Marie Curie postdoctoral research fellow the University of Perpignan in France. This is European Union-funded 'individual research fellowship program' (Internationally highly competitive program with <12% success rate). Since my Ph.D., I have got several prestigious International research opportunities such as Erasmus-Mundus, Israel PBC fellowship, Charpak fellowship etc. Now I am looking for an opportunity to integrate my research skills and expertise into the university academic system. Hence, considering my most suitable eligibility, I have applied for the post of assistant professor in Biotechnology and Zoology department at your university with reference to the recent advertisement (Mlsu/Rectt./2018/08 dated 6/02/2018).

My application references are as follows (with a scanned copy as an attachment),

Biotechnology registration number: 975289970465

Zoology registration number : 145790609429

I am highly motivated to pursue this opportunity to start my career at the MLS University, Udaipur. There are several specific reasons, the location in the relatively tribal belt area, scope to improve lives of economically backward students through advanced scientific education, bring the international expertise to tie up for research projects etc.

However, at this stage coming to India for the screening test (although it is shortlisting criteria and test score would not be considered in next phases) is not possible due to current job responsibilities and economic reasons. Hence I request you to exempt me from screening test and give an opportunity to appear for an online interview. As per my knowledge, this is the best recruitment practice followed by Indian institutes (IIT, IISC, Central universities etc.) in accordance with UGC minimum standards for the teaching position, 2016 and Digital India initiative by the Government of India.

I strongly believe that honorable Vice-Chancellor would consider my sincere request with priority to enable me to justify my candidature at MLSU, Udaipur.

Thank you for your kind attention,

I'm eager to receive your response.

Sincerely,
Chandrashekhar
